Please note: Access to some resources from off-campus may be restricted at times as some Journals and Publishers require 'Authentication Notes'. If you are experiencing problems with the Digital Library please seek advice from our Librarian.

4. Once logged in you will be able to get full use out of the 'Library Search' and 'Subject Guides' functions in the search box. Within the Library Search function you can input specific titles or terms you may be looking for in a book or journal.

A screenshot of the 'Library Search' interface. It features a navigation bar with 'Library Search', 'Subject Guides', 'FAQs', and 'Google Scholar'. Below the navigation bar, the text 'Find books, journals, articles, databases, online resources etc.' is displayed. A search input field contains the placeholder text 'Enter search terms'. To the right of the input field is a dropdown menu with 'All items' selected, and a 'Search' button. Below the input field, there are radio buttons for 'Classic "Search"' and 'New "Search"', and links for 'Advanced search' and 'Guide to searching'.

5. Students can search specific subject sources to ensure results are more relevant. To search by subject, please click 'Search by A-Z list' as highlighted below.

6. Once redirected to the A-Z of Subject Guides select the letter of the subject you wish to search, e.g. B for Business.

8. As another example, students studying on our Law degrees will see the following subject homepage. The main sources for Law have been highlighted below, Westlaw UK and LexisLibrary.

The screenshot shows a navigation bar with links: Home, About Us, Collections, Membership, Services & Facilities, Research & Guidance, and Help. Below the navigation bar is a breadcrumb trail: University Library / LibGuides / Law / Introduction. The main heading is "Law" with a search box to its right. A sub-heading reads "Your guide to finding quality sources." On the left is a vertical menu with buttons for: Introduction, Books, Journal articles and papers, Case Law, Legislation, EU and European Law, International Law, Additional resources, Legal database help, Research skills, OSCOLA Referencing, Off-campus access, and ReadingLists@Anglia. The main content area has a "Key resources" section with a light blue header. Below it, text states "Cases, legislation, journal articles and more can be found on:" followed by "Westlaw[®].UK and Lexis[®]Library" which is enclosed in a red rectangular box. Below this are two bullet points: "Westlaw UK" and "LexisLibrary". Further down, text says "More journal articles can be found on:" followed by the "HEINONLINE" logo and a bullet point: "HeinOnline: Law Journal Library". At the bottom is a "Further help and guidance" section with a light blue header and two bullet points: "AskUs" and "Book a Librarian".

Please note: You must login to the ARU London Digital Library before accessing any sources or you will not have the appropriate rights.

If you need any further advice please speak to our librarian Maria Elfani in the Learning Resource Centre, Room 106.
